

application

Minority Journalism Program Feb. 25, 2012

Who? High school juniors and seniors interested in pursuing careers in journalism

What? One-day journalism program sponsored by Carolina Association of Black Journalists and School of Journalism at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

When? Feb. 25, 2012

Where? Sessions will be in Carroll Hall, home of the UNC-CH School of Journalism and Mass Communication.

Why? To learn more about journalism as a field of study and as a career

How? Send in this application along with...

At least one – but no more than three – writing samples such as articles, stories, essays or any previous class assignments. (Materials will not be returned, and photocopies are acceptable.)

$25 registration fee. Make check payable to CABJ. (Checks will be returned to students not accepted.)

Please type or print clearly. See “how” at the left for other materials requested. Postmark deadline: Feb. 10, 2012

Name _____

Phone _____ Circle: Junior Senior

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

E-mail _____

Briefly describe your involvement in scholastic journalism and/or your interest in journalism as a career: (You may use additional pages if necessary.)

Name of Parent or Guardian _____

(Fill in the next two lines only if different from above.)

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Your High School _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Signatures:

Adviser or Teacher _____

Parent or Guardian _____

Student _____

If you have questions or need additional information, contact Elizabeth Wan'gu at wangu@live.unc.edu or leave a message, clearly stating your name and telephone number, at the j-school toll-free phone line, 1-888-562- 6276.

Return application, writing sample(s) and registration fee to:
Carolina Association of Black Journalists
School of Journalism and Mass Communication
UNC-Chapel Hill, CB#3365
Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3365